

Brand Guidelines

The Basics

The Twitter logo is a powerful symbol for what's happening in the world now, and the power of the voices and unique conversations that happen on the platform everyday. Here are some rules of the road when using our logo.

- Only show the logo in Twitter blue or white.
- Don't alter, rotate, or modify the logo.
- Don't animate the logo or make it talk, chirp, or fly.
- Don't surround the logo with other birds or creatures.
- Don't accessorize the logo with extra elements like speech bubbles.
- Don't anthropomorphize the logo.
- Don't overemphasize the logo.
- Don't use previous versions of the logo.
- Follow the clear space guidance in this document.

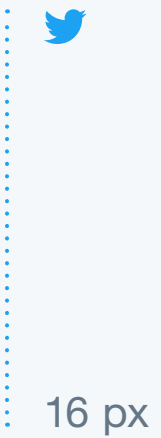

Clear Space and Minimum Size

When you're using the logo with other graphic elements, make sure you give it some room to breathe. The empty space around the logo should be at least 150% of the width of the logo. To ensure the logo maintains its visual impact, do not go any smaller than 16 pixels wide.

Please refer to the downloadable Starter Kit at brand.twitter.com.

Color

The Twitter logo is always either blue or white. It must be legible and maintain the integrity of its form.

When placing the logo on an image, always use the white logo version. For images with a light background, we suggest applying a 10-20% black tint to the entire image to maintain legibility of the white logo.

And never show the Twitter logo in black or any other colors.

Okay, we do have one exception: some limitations with color printing may apply. This is the only time the logo is permitted to be displayed in black with prior permission from Twitter.

Lock-ups

Please don't use Twitter's marks in a way that suggests sponsorship, endorsement, or affiliation by Twitter. Or in a way that could confuse Twitter with another brand.

When showing that a #Hashtag or @Username is from Twitter, pair it with the logo and use Helvetica Neue Pro 75 Bold. Observe our clear space rules, and scale the text to 100% of the height of the logo.

Please refer to the downloadable Starter Kit at brand.twitter.com.

Social Icons

When using the logo to represent your presence on Twitter — either alone or alongside other social icons — you can use the logo in either blue or white, displayed at equal size and height to the other social media icons. When using the logo in white, the background color may be set in any color.

It is preferred that our logo is represented free of a container but if a container works best for your needs, feel free to use either a circle, square, or square with rounded corners.

Please refer to the downloadable Starter Kit at brand.twitter.com.

Our Typeface

Our typeface is bold, simple, and universal — it is the common thread throughout our brand and allows us to emphasize the voices on Twitter.

For the @Username and #Hashtag lockups, we use Helvetica Neue Pro 75 Bold (page 5).

For Tweet Treatments, we use Helvetica Neue Pro 75 Bold for the name, the Tweet itself, and timestamp, and Helvetica Neue Pro 55 Roman for the @Username (page 10).

Anatomy

Tweets represent the building blocks of the Twitter experience, and the real voices that drive everything that happens on our platform. When you show Tweets outside of the Twitter platform, always present them exactly as found. Each Tweet should be displayed verbatim — don’t alter, edit, or fabricate any aspect of a Tweet’s message.

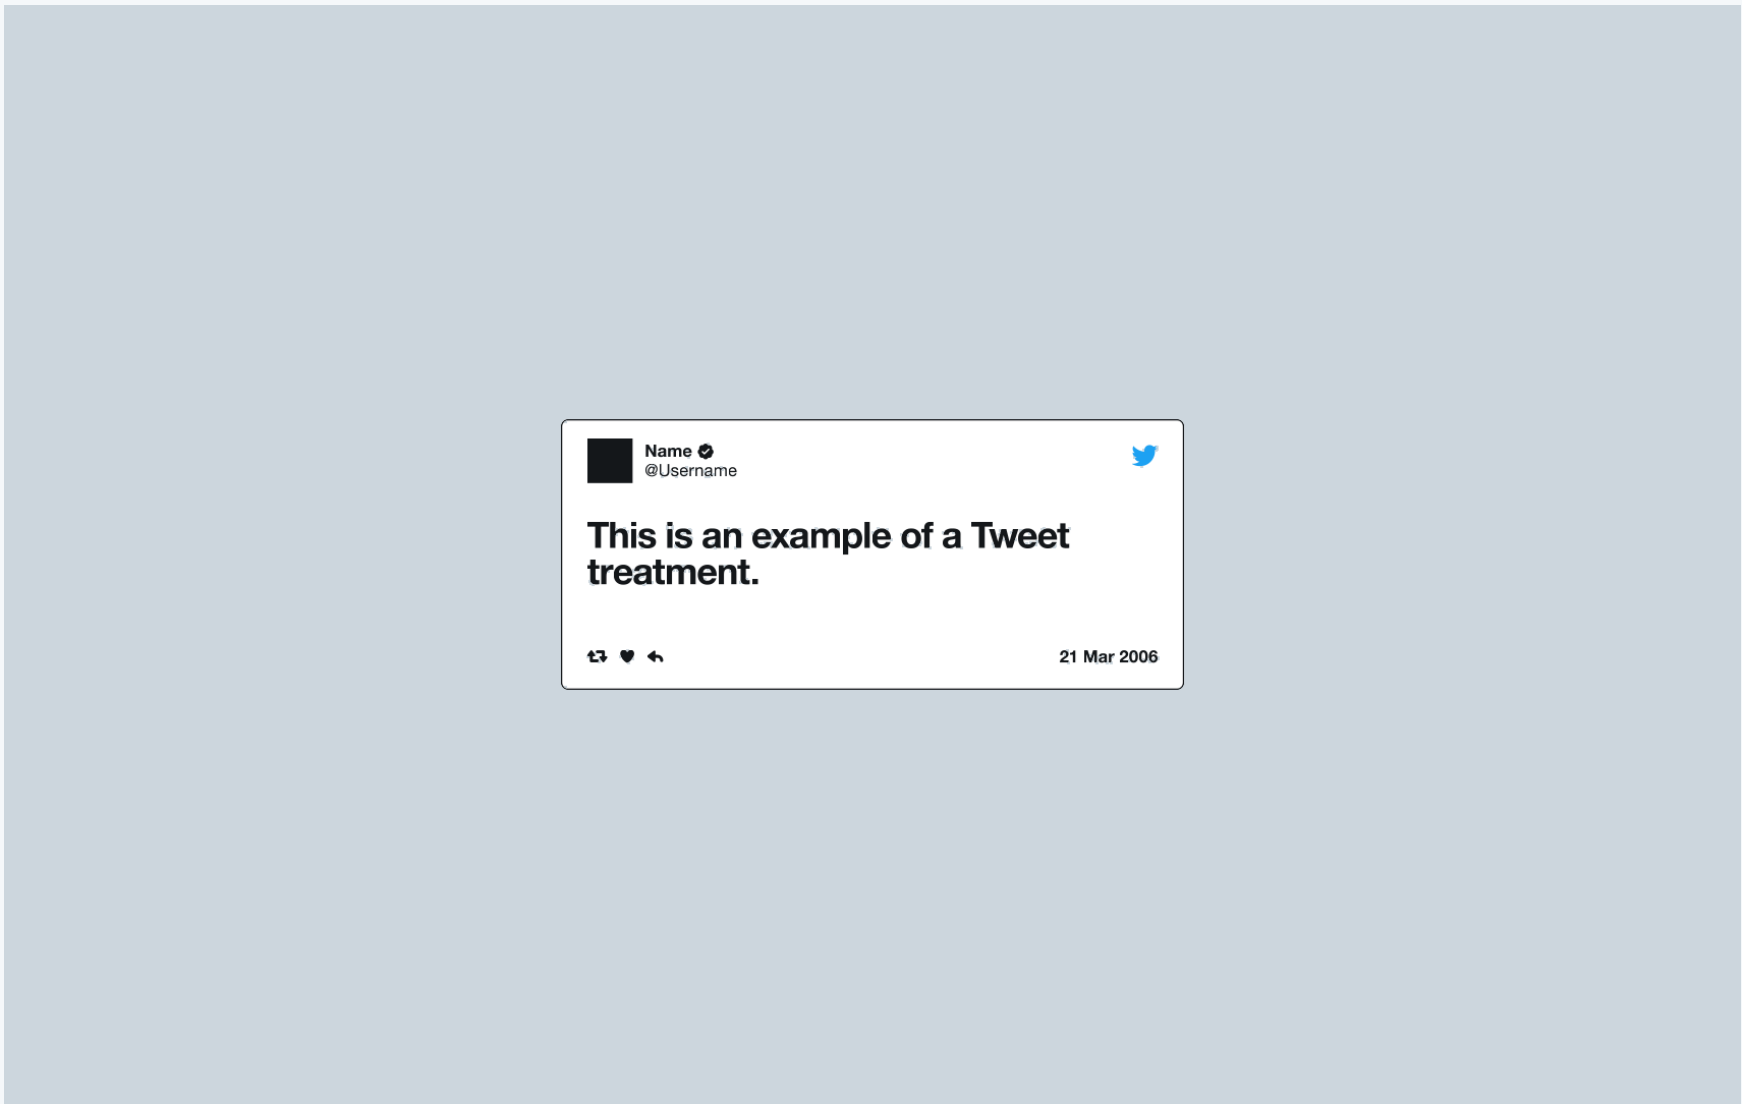

- Don’t pull elements out of context, editorialize, or discriminate based on content.
- Don’t alter usernames, real names, or hashtags (preserve the caps, lowercase, numbers, underscores, etc).
- Always credit Tweets by displaying the account's full name and @Username, and the credit the Twitter platform with the logo.
- Twitter can’t provide permission to use third party Tweets, logos, or images. If you’re using third-party content, please consult with your legal team to assess any legal risk. If the Tweets are your own, you’re free to use or display them, so long as you comply with these guidelines.

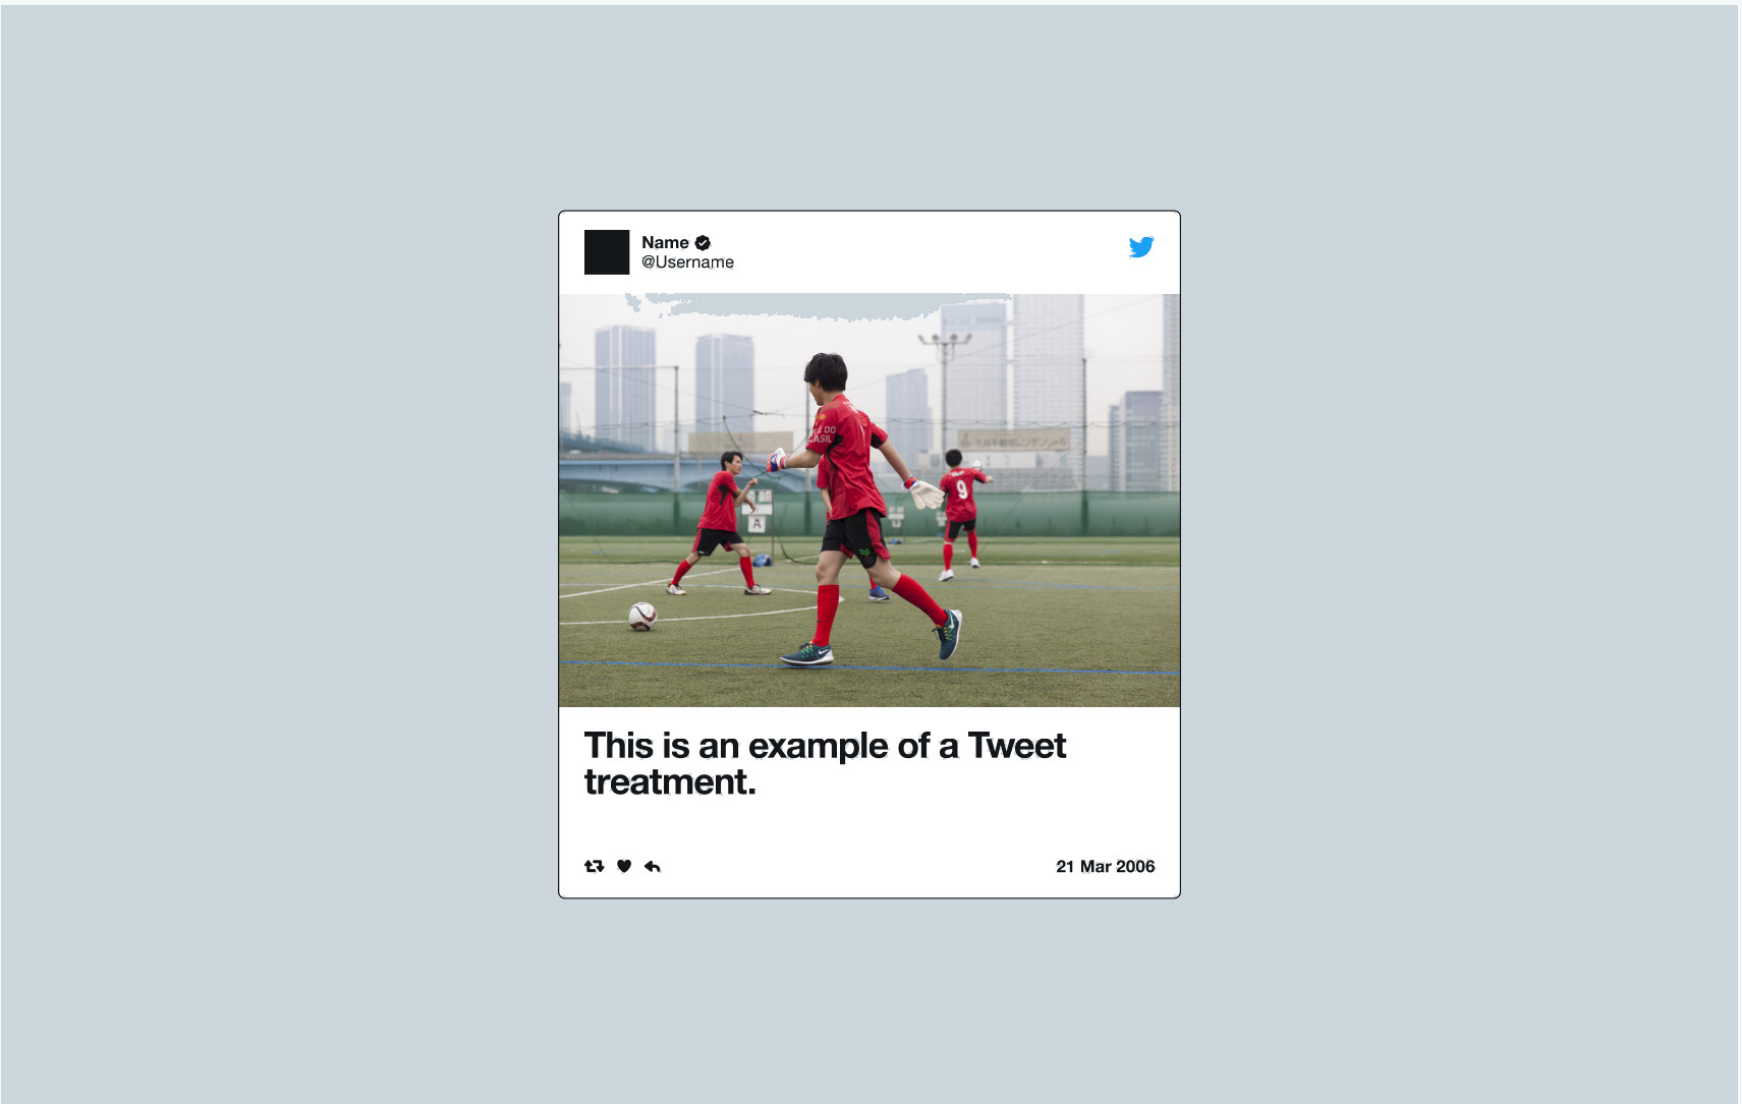

Variations

There are many ways to represent a Tweet, depending on the context, audience, and level of detail you want. When showing Tweets, we recommend including as much context as possible. This consistent treatment helps build recognition and association back to our platform.

Please refer to the downloadable Starter Kit at brand.twitter.com.

Using Twitter Marks

The Twitter marks include, but are not limited to, the Twitter name, Twitter logo, the term “Tweet” and any word, phrase, image, or other designation that identifies the source or origin of any Twitter product. Always capitalize the T in “Twitter,” as well as all noun and verb versions of “Tweet” and “Retweet.”

Naming and visual design (logos, websites, products)

Never use Twitter logos or icons as your own.

Please don’t incorporate Twitter’s marks, in whole or in part, in the name of your company, product, service, website, domain name, application, or website.

Books or publications (education, instructionals, guides, conferences)

Remember to always be clear that it’s about Twitter, not by Twitter. Please name your books and publications something unique, and do not incorporate Twitter’s marks (Twitter, Tweet, Retweet, and Twitter logo) in the title or cover.

Merchandise

A product branded with the Twitter name or logo is a reflection of Twitter. Unless the Twitter logo is locked up with a #Hashtag or @Username, or you’re using it with other social media icons, we don’t allow others to make, sell, or give away anything with our name or logo on it.

Functional use (embedded Tweets, Timelines, and Buttons)

If you’re looking to use embed codes to publish Twitter content, check out publish.twitter.com.
